

FERNOX LEADED SOLDER WIRE

- Tin / lead wire for non-potable applications
- Manufactured to BS EN 29453
- Produce perfect joints

FernoX leaded solder wire for plumbing applications

FernoX is the leading internationally recognised manufacturer of solder alloys and fluxes for plumbing and heating applications.

It's comprehensive range of highly effective solid solder wire is designed to produce perfect joints, quickly and effectively.

FernoX leaded tin/lead wire for non-potable applications

With a melting range between 183°C and 234°C, this wire is available on 250g and 500g reels.